

Problem

Each of the two equal sides of an isosceles triangle is one unit long. Without using calculus, find the length of the third side that maximizes the triangle's area.

Puzzle #5.1, Largest Triangle, in Martin Gardner, The Colossal Book of Short Puzzles and Problems, 2006